

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS, SESSIONS & ROUNDTABLES

(until 30.06.2021)

The Dortmund Conference on Spatial Planning and Planning Research (DOKORP 2022)

The 6th DOKORP will take place on February 14 and 15, 2022, in German and English language, and hopefully with you and in attendance. The title is:

„If possible, please turn around! Researching and Planning for the Sustainability Turn“

Spatial planning and development, despite guiding principles to the contrary, contribute locally and globally to social processes that exceed the planet's carrying capacity and distribute burdens and opportunities unequally. „If possible, please turn around!“ therefore is not the suggestion of your navigation system after a missed turn, but the request to consistently question this direction as well as to point out possibilities that necessarily go beyond marginal directional corrections. The Dortmund Conference on Spatial and Planning Research 2022 would like to contribute to the Sustainability Turn and invites you to present your contribution to this process.

Keynotes: Prof. Dr. Maja Göpel
(Political economist and transformation researcher, Scientific Director of The New Institute, member of the Club of Rome and the World Future Council)

Prof. Dr.-Ing. Christian Holz-Rau
(since 1998 Professor of Transportation and Transportation Planning at the Department of Planning at the Technical University of Dortmund)

Tracks: DOKORP 2022 comprises eight tracks. You can submit a presentation or propose your own session by 30.6.2021. You can also initiate a spatial and planning science roundtable.

- Track 1: Neighbourhood development
- Track 2: Urban development
- Track 3: Spatial development and monitoring
- Track 4: International and European perspectives of spatial planning
- Track 5: Planning theory
- Track 6: Mobility and transport
- Track 7: Green and blue infrastructures
- Track 8: Climate change and public health

DOKORP 2022 is also open for other topics of spatial and planning research. You can submit your contributions to the Call from now until June 30th, 2021. We look forward to your submission!
