

LUXEMBOURG IN TRANSITION

SPATIAL VISIONS FOR THE ZERO-CARBON
AND RESILIENT FUTURE
OF THE LUXEMBOURG FUNCTIONAL REGION

Launched by the Department of Spatial Planning of the Ministry of Energy and Spatial Planning of the Grand-Duchy of Luxembourg, the urban-architectural and landscape consultation entitled Luxembourg in Transition – Spatial visions for the low-carbon and sustainable future of the Luxembourg functional region aims to gather strategic spatial planning proposals and produce “towards 2050” ecological transition scenarios for the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and neighbouring border territories. It was inspired by other large-scale consultations that have been conducted, such as those for Greater Paris and Greater Geneva.

OBJECT

Luxembourg in Transition is a process that encourages the formation of multidisciplinary teams from diverse backgrounds for a new transitional and resilient approach to spatial planning.

CALL FOR TENDERS

Luxembourg in Transition is aimed at professionals, but also universities, technical institutes and research organisations with expertise in the fields of spatial planning, urban planning, landscape and architecture, supported by environmental disciplines as well as the humanities and social sciences.
